DAILY BRIEF

Cuba-UN: Selection of President Dorticos to head the Cuban UN delegation suggests that Castro intends to make a major propaganda and political effort in the current UN session.

Dorticos, who is expected to deliver the main Cuban address to the Assembly scheduled for 5 October, ranks fourth after the Castro brothers and Che Guevara in the official party listing. He will be accompanied by Foreign Minister Roa.

The Cubans probably hope that they can obtain passage this year of a UN resolution appealing to the US and Cuba to settle their differences in bilateral discussions. Such a resolution would be difficult for many nonaligned countries to oppose. It would make the Cuban issue a purely bilateral problem. US opposition would be used by the Cubans as a sign of aggressive intentions.

(The USSR has made no move to reduce the strength of its troops in East Berlin, and Soviet personnel continue to put in an appearance along the Wall.)
